

Jagdeep Rajput, a wildlife photographer in India, appeared to have captured a variation of Pegasus, the mythical winged horse, when a crane, the tallest flying bird in the world, stretched its wings behind a blue bull at a watering hole